The Office of Director General of Fair Trading will be replaced (with effect from 1 April 2003) by the Office of Fair Trading (OFT). New independent competition bodies will take decisions on merger and market investigations using competition-based tests rather than the current public interest test. A maximum penalty of five years in prison will deter individuals who dishonestly operate hardcore cartels. Victims of anti-competitive behaviour will find it easier to bring claims for damages for losses due to anti-competitive behaviour. Stop Now Orders will be extended to protect consumers from traders who do not meet their legal obligations. The OFT will be obliged to respond within 90 days to 'super-complaints' from consumer bodies. In insolvency cases, the use of administrative receivership will be restricted and the balance will be shifted in favour of administration. The Crown's preferential right to recover unpaid taxes ahead of other creditors, will be abolished. Almost all bankrupt individuals will be automatically discharged after a maximum of 12 months. Reforms to the Insolvency Services Account will mean that creditors receive the maximum possible investment return.

Grace Reinhart Sachs is living the only life she ever wanted for herself. Devoted to her husband, a pediatric oncologist at a major cancer hospital, their young son Henry, and the patients she sees in her therapy practice, her days are full of familiar things: she lives in the very New York apartment in which she was raised, and sends Henry to the school she herself once attended. Dismayed by the ways in which women delude themselves, Grace is also the author of a book You Should Have Known, in which she cautions women to really hear what men are trying to tell them. But weeks before the book is published a chasm opens in her own life: a violent death, a missing husband, and, in the place of a man Grace thought she knew, only an ongoing chain of terrible revelations. Left behind in the wake of a spreading and very public disaster, and horrified by the ways in which she has failed to heed her own advice, Grace must dismantle one life and create another for her child and herself.

One of the key components of the modernization of competition rules has been a radical departure from the previous « form-based » enforcement to a so-called « effects-based » approach. Taking stock of ten years of experience under this new policy, the present book analyses the changes brought about, as well as the practical problems encountered in its day-to-day application, be it by competition law enforcers, judges or practitioners. This book compiles the reports prepared for the 2011 Annual Conference of the Global Competition Law Centre (" GCLC "). Each and every chapter of this volume formulates concrete proposals as to how the system can be clarified or even improved. The focus is not only on the enforcement of Articles 101 and 102 TFEU, but also in the file of merger control. Attempts are made to define more precisely the boundaries between anticompetitive object and effect, and to develop adequate safe harbours and presumptions. This book also casts a closer look at the analytical framework, possible theories of harm, evidence and defences. Overall the objective is to reconcile as best as possible law and economics, and to see how the goal to achieve the “ right decision ” in terms of economic outcome can be combined with the legitimate need for legal certainty.
